Virus Invasion

William "Bill" Chesnut
Owner of Quality Computer Service

A new virus is coming in the form of an email from UPS, FEDEX or any shipping company. The email states that your package has been shipped. It requests you to open the attachment to find out the arrival date.

The virus causes your desktop icons to not work. When selecting a desktop icon, a pop up box appears asking you to select which program you would like to use to open the icon you selected. This virus is prevalent among home users. It is 'mean and nasty'. It may require a reload of your operating system.

Also, beware of the pop-virus named Antivirus Pro 2009, 2011 or 2011. The pop-up will ask you to purchase their software to get rid of your viruses.

Call QCS right away if your computer is experiencing these symptoms.

"A thunderstorm is God's way of saying you spend too much time in front of your computer"
– Unknown Author

With summer in full swing, the threat for severe thunderstorms is inevitable. Be sure you have proper surge protection for computers, laptops and printers. A UPS (Uninterrupted Power Supply) is the most effective surge protection for your equipment. If you are interested in purchasing a UPS, call us at 614-799-2700 or email us at Sales@QCS2.com.

VIRUS PROTECTION CLUB

Now that school is out for the summer and your children are on summer vacation, they will spend more time surfing the internet and on the multiple social networking sites. It is of utmost importance that your virus protection is up to date and functioning properly.

Join the Virus Protection Club (VPC)

Join today for free! Members receive $10 off virus protection, virus removal and updates. QCS created the Virus Protection Club (VPC) to help you avoid the stress caused by having to deal with the damage from viruses, malware or spyware.
